

BBQs at Beta this weekend

---

Zuck

Oct 4, 2013 12:55 PM

Posted in group: Dartmouth Beta Alpha Bromega

I have received many confused questions about the BBQs happening at Beta this weekend. There are two separate events happening.

BBQ #1: Today from 5-7 put on by the IFC. We are grilling food for the freshmen and others in attendance. Pledges, keep filling out the google doc for shifts on grill duty. Brothers should show up as well as this is an event for freshmen to meet upperclassmen in fraternities. We also have an egregious amount of free food. (do not take any of the food currently in the chapter room. Dont be an ass).

BBQ #2: Tomorrow at 2:30 put on by us and Tri Delt. This is catered so we dont have to do anything to prepare. Just show up, eat free food, and talk to freshmen.

Both of these events are sponsored GLC events for freshmen which means we can have NO ALCOHOL during these events. That means our basement will be CLOSED today from 4-whenever general Mattis stops speaking. It will also be closed tomorrow from around 2 to when the bbq ends around 4pm. This is incredibly important for us to follow. On the whole, I would ask you to keep these events happening outside so we dont have freshmen wandering inside. If its raining, obviously dont be an ass about not letting people inside but use your sense. There should be no one in the basement at this time and no alcohol in the house. If there is, we could get seriously fucked.

Let me know if you have any questions.

_kai_
Zuck